Re: BACK TO SCHOOL UPDATE

As I write this update, I realize that thirty days from now, matriculation will be over, and all Cadets except Old Cadets will be here and actively engaged. The 2022/2023 school year will be well underway.

COVID:

I will start with a COVID update as I have done in past updates. I recently attended a Higher Education meeting, and I asked the Secretary of Higher Education for the State of New Mexico what COVID protocols she knew of or believed we would be under for the start of the upcoming school year. Her answer was surprising, considering how strict the State of New Mexico Protocols have been since the pandemic started. She responded that she did not think we would be under any mandate from the state for testing, vaccination, or quarantine protocols. She stated that each Institution would be able to develop its protocols.

With that statement, the NMMI COVID protocols are posted on our website. A quick summary will be that we will test everyone, Cadets, Staff, Support Staff, and Faculty, as we have done the last two years, to establish a baseline of record. We will use an antigen test to produce the results in approximately ten minutes. Anyone testing positive will be moved into quarantine for five days (current CDC guidelines). Anyone providing a vaccination card with a current fully vaccinated status will be exempt from testing. CDC defines fully vaccinated as two initial shots and a booster.

We will not conduct surveillance testing as we have done in the past. We will test anyone showing symptomatic tendencies. We will test employees, staff, and faculty that have not been vaccinated if required by the State of New Mexico.

RECRUITING AND RETENTION:

In my last update, I attached two articles about the difficulties of recruiting and retaining students in today's educational environment. I am providing the links to two more articles of interest. One article is from the Washington Post and talks about the challenges they are having in Pennsylvania. Enrollment at public universities fell 12 percent, and community colleges fell 23 percent.

<https://www.washingtonpost.com/education/2022/03/31/college-enrollment.html>

Another article about Albuquerque Public Schools indicates that the district has 400 more teachers and staff members than it should because they have not made adjustments equal to the number of students they have lost over the past years.

<https://www.abqjournal.com/2493681/aps-funding-spending-has-increased-while-enrollment-has-declined.html>

We dropped ten percent in enrollment in the full COVID year (2020/2021). We were fortunate to recover to 91% of capacity last year. As we are in full swing in both recruiting and retention for the 2022/2023 school year, we are facing all of the issues you will read about in these articles. Students do not want to leave home. Students realize they can get a degree while working from the kitchen table in their pajamas. Students and families that were, and are, being hit hard financially by the pandemic need to work instead of school.

Our Admissions Departments, Domestic and International, work hard to bring quality Cadets to NMML. We have a Board of Regents Admissions policy that guides their work in recruiting. We will not deviate from that policy. The number of Cadets we recruit, whatever the number may be, will adhere to the policy established by the Board of Regents.

CORPS OF CADETS:

Things are moving rapidly in the Office of the Commandant, and noted below are just a few of the initiatives and programs in progress.

Staff Manning – Currently, 11 of the 12 TLA (Troop Leadership Advisor) positions are occupied. We anticipate that every vacancy will be filled before the academic year begins on 11 August. All three SLA Squadron Leadership Advisor positions are filled.

Revisions to the Cadet 2022 – 2023 Blue Book (Handbook) – The edits and updates to the 2022 -2023 Blue Book were a collaborative effort among members of the commandant's staff, the incoming regimental commander, the associate (academic) deans, other academic officers, and comments from the Superintendent's end-ofyear cadet focus groups. A few of the more pertinent and visible changes (not all-inclusive) to promote quality of life include the following.

- Merits - The Cadet Reward System was revised to award merits for appropriate/exceptional conduct and behavior. (The implementation of the merit system was the most noted request communicated by cadets during the Superintendent's end-of-year focus groups).
- Extended Post - Cadets will have, with parental consent for minors, permission to walk to selected eateries and the Walgreens Drug Store located adjacent to the Institute.
- Food Deliveries – Cadets will be permitted to receive food deliveries from outside vendors. Cadets will receive all deliveries in front of Bronco Plaza.
- Privileges - Passes, permits, and furloughs, for cadets in good standing have been expanded.
- Refrigerator Access -- Except for RATs (first semester cadets), cadets will be authorized one small portable refrigeration per room (please reference the Blue Book for size/dimensions).

To promote Cadet Development, the following initiatives are ongoing in preparation for the upcoming school year.

- Regimental Task Organization – As a reminder, the Corps will consist of a high school and a college squadron. For numerous reasons, cadets, faculty, and staff are optimistic that this transition will be positive and productive.
- Commandant's Leadership and Character Development Program - Initiated in January of 2022, The Commandant's Leadership and Character Development Program (LCDP) continues to mature. The four-semester program implements leadership principles and traits that support cadet leader development at the troop, squadron, and regimental levels. It will build on intrapersonal skills of social and emotional learning, mental health, and wellness,. During the recent New Mexico Higher Education Assessment and Retention Workshop, the Commandant's Staff members were invited to present the program at the state-wide retention and assessment conference in February of 2023. Additionally, the program was presented at the annual Association of Military Colleges and Schools (AMCSUS) Commandant's Workshop in Camden, South Carolina.

In June of 2022, to support sustainment of the Leadership and Character Development Program, the Institute was awarded a $50,000 grant by the state of New Mexico's Department of Higher Education.

NMMI was one of 12 of 24 schools that competed for and received the award. Criteria for the award required a deliberate and formal approach to promote mental and emotional health, wellness, and/or student success.

- Commandant's staff Visits the Citadel – Prior to attending the Commandant's Workshop in Camden, South Carolina, members of the Commandant's Staff, the Director of NMMI's Cadet Counseling Center, and the Institute's Department Head for Ethics and Philosophy visited The Citadel's Krause Center for Leadership and Ethics. Issues specific to leadership curriculum, task organization, service-learning, and community engagement highlighted the day-long event. Information gleaned from the visit will serve as a resource as the Institute continues to expand its leader development programming.

CAMPUS SECURITY:

We are presenting a multi-layered approach to security on campus that has been developed and improved several times over the years.

The New Mexico Military Institute Police Department (NMMI PD) has six full-time and five part-time police officers.

All officers employed by the NMMI PD are certified by the New Mexico Law Enforcement Academy (NMLEA).

All the officers by the NMMI PD complete the biennium training required by the NMLEA to maintain their current police officer certification.

All officers employed by the NMMI PD have completed basic "Active Killer Response" training.

The NMMI PD has conducted an in-house building search and emergency response within 18 months.

For the 2020/2021 school year, the NMMI PD offered a 20-minute online "Active Killer Response" course for NMMI employees and cadets. The training is currently being given to all new employees as they are in-processed, ensuring that all employees are exposed to it before they start work at NMMI.

In the spring semester of 2021, officers of the NMMI PD went to the individual classrooms in the three main academic buildings. They performed a 10-minute drill with the teachers and students, explaining the procedures for a lockdown in their classroom and demonstrating what to do during a lockdown, following the Home Land Security “Run, Hide, Fight” method. Many other non-academic departments on the post were trained.

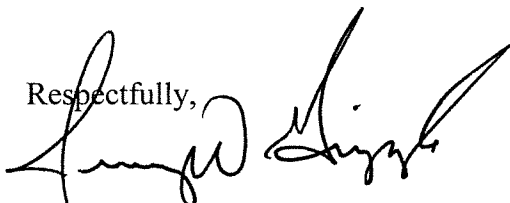

The NMMI and Roswell PD participated in a 10 hour joint “Active Killer Response” training.

Once the 2022/2023 school year begins, “Active Killer Response” training will be mandatory for all employees and cadets.

ADMINISTRATION:

I want to remind everyone that we will end the semester at Thanksgiving. Graduation will be on November 23. We will offer recovery courses from November 28 until December 16. The first day of class for the Second Semester will be January 11, 2023

Respectfully,
